Genealogical Con- vention Very Successful

Good crowds attended each session of the Genealogical Convention held in Stirling last Sunday, and much valuable information regarding means and methods of research and compiling data was given to those attending.

Harold J. Kirby was present representing the Genealogical Society of Utah, and both in the morning and afternoon sessions he occupied the major portion of the time in instructions on how to keep records.

President H. S. Allen and Mrs. Fred Romeril were on the program. President Allen speaking on the value to the individual of Temple and Genealogical work, and Mrs. Romeril speaking on true incidents of unexpected assistance in the gathering of genealogy.

The Stirling Choir under the leadership of Lief Erickson furnished the music, and a number of special numbers were also given. The Stirling were also had the pageant at night. To all who attended, the day was a very valuable one.

HIGHWAY PATROLS URGED TO CHECK RECKLESS DRIVERS

Speeding drivers on Alberta highways, always a menace to lives and property, will be checked up, if a move initiated by the Alberta Motor Association is heeded by the authorities.

The need of highway patrol is being advocated by the A. M. A. With a proper force of this kind, ready at any and all times to check the reckless driver, serious accidents on the highways of this province should be reduced to a minimum.

While interested in the rights of motorists at all times the motor association has no brief at all for the reckless, law-breaking driver. He is a danger to the public, and he is a menace, allowed too long to wreak havoc and destruction, with his own and the lives of others.

Only in recent weeks, reports of accidents in which careless drivers have apparently been the victims of reckless motorists have filled the front pages of daily newspapers. The conditions have become alarming.

Now the A.M.A. feels that the time has arrived for the authorities to place patrols on the highways, charged with the duty of acting promptly and effectively to curb reckless driving. Severe measures are necessary and if taken soon, will mean the saving of lives.

Not only the driver on the main highways but also those on secondary and district roads are subject to the menace that has taken such a toll of life in this province.

NEWS NOTES

Clark Lund placed third in the Bareback finals at the Lethbridge Stampede, and the day money Wednesday was won by Ross Lund, 1st, Art Lund, 2nd and Clarke Lund, 3rd; fourth going to Alex Hunt of Cardston. The Lund family certainly showed up well in this division.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones of Medicine Hat, C.P.R. conductor formerly of Cardston and for many years on this line, were injured in a motor accident near Taber Monday morning on their way to Lethbridge, and had to be removed to Medicine Hat Hospital. Their friends here and in other towns along the line hope for their speedy recovery.

Business Moves Upward

From the government's Bureau of Statistics figures have been issued for May business which take Canada back to the relatively high level of April, 1931. Business operations uncovered many surprises on the constructive side with the general situation being considerably brighter than for some months past. Common stock prices, due largely to the jump in oil and mining shares, reached a new recovery high in May. Bank deposits also soared upward to the highest point in recent years, while bond prices remained at their relatively high level. The breaking of the drought by heavy rains in the west caused a minor reaction in commodity prices.

The manufacturing index made up of 29 factors, ran 105.1 against 94.0 in April, and reached the highest point since May, 1930. Boot and shoe production went into new high ground. Activity was generally maintained in the primary iron and steel industry. One of the brightest spots in May was external trade with the adjusted import index up to 84.0 from 71.5 in April, while exports were higher at 84.1 compared with 81.5.

As far as construction is concerned, there is no industry in Canada with so many ramifications. It reaches to scores of important companies, it goes to the lumber yards and the construction transportation and have all taken up casual labor, the teamster and the worker who could not hold a job on a factory machine if he had one. There are many new building jobs planned for this year. There is no doubt about the direct and indirect benefit to everybody from new building. If the big corporations led the way in new building it would engender a whole lot of confidence with the general public. Much of that confidence already is evident, since the government set the pace with its huge construction program. Others not the big corporations are taking it up. They are enthusiastic for the future of Canada. They're building.

While one cannot have religion without belief, the importance of creeds is being subordinated to deeds.

MR. ABERHARDT

There is one that Mr. Aberhardt has overlooked. Unearned increment.

Ice costs $1.00 a ton to get up in February. It is sold in July for 1c. pound; a profit of 1900%.

Like all the cases of Mr. Aberhardt, he does not take into consideration the facts for he does not know them.

A man who has never produced a dollar's worth of wealth, who has never given an employment or paid a dollar in taxes, knows little of economic business, or for that matter where the money is coming from.

Ask the man who has put in ice how much profit there is in it. In the first place part of it melts, second there is little demand for it and third the cost of selling and delivering is so little is wanted is greater than what the ice sells for. That is the reason few people sell ice. Putting up ice for a dollar a ton and selling it for $20.00 a ton sounds good over the radio and looks good on paper. Try it. —Magrath News.

CHEESE BONUS COMES INTO EFFECT DURING THIS MONTH

Shippers to Canadian cheese factories during the month of July are to be paid a bonus of 1 1/4c. a pound on their milk sales, and it may run up to 1 1/2c. payments to be made through the cheese factories out of the fund of $100,000,000 which was stated in last issue was to be applied for the relief of the dairy industry in Canada.

It is with the object of increasing cheese sales to be made in Great Britain that the bonus is given. It is impossible to market our butter there advantageously, at present home prices, and shippers all want to sell cream to the creameries instead of milk to the factories, because of the higher prices realized on cream. With this bonus it is expected to make milk shipping to the factories more attractive and so decrease the butter production. —Market Examiner.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS THINK AND SAY

CLARESHOLM PRESS: We confess that we have not yet accepted the premise that is being so generally preached, that the state owes all people food, clothing and shelter. We admit that in times when the individual, through no fault of his own, is unable to so provide himself, it then becomes the duty of the state to so provide. But we have accepted this theory in its entirety, even with the present mechanical and scientific development, the world stop as far as humanity is concerned in the space of a few weeks. The state only owes the privilege to earn and enjoy food, clothing and shelter and the standard of living should always be the height of our ability to produce.

General—Crops in the Prairie Provinces have benefited by the hot weather which has prevailed, and in general moisture conditions are satisfactory, exceptions being in Southern Alberta and western Saskatchewan where grain is adversely affected by drought. In scattered areas there has been some damage from hail, and reports indicate that rust continues to develop in Southern Manitoba and southeastern Saskatchewan. In Quebec the growth of all crops continues to be satisfactory and an average harvest is anticipated. In Ontario crop conditions generally are satisfactory, although excessive precipitation has caused some lodging of grain and hay. Cutting of fall wheat will begin next week. In the Maritime Provinces the weather continues favorable to crop growth. In British Columbia warm weather following heavy rains, has promoted the growth of all crops, and improved the outlook.

Alberta—Considerable early sown wheat is now heading at 15 to 20 inches with a good stand and coarse grains show rapid growth. Crops in the south show further deterioration from heat and drought and the yield will be poor. Beet crops continue promising, although late. Pastures and ranges are dry in the south but good in central and northern areas. Saskatchewan—Growth is now rapid and crops generally continue promising except in western sections where moisture is urgently required and in the southeast where there are indications of rust. Considerable hail damage has occurred at scattered points. Manitoba crops are progressing rapidly and prospects continue favorable. Wheat for the most part is in head and coarse grains are in satisfactory condition. There is further evidence of rust in the southern area, but to date it is not generally serious. Damage from other sources is light.

SOCIAL CREDIT IS SCORED BY FORMER LEHIT-GOVERNOR

DR. WILLIAM EGBERT SAYS ADOPTION OF PLAN WILL RUIN BEST CITIZENS

Calgary, July 25. Charging the adoption of social credit would place unbearable burdens on both industry and agriculture and would ruin the mass of Alberta's best citizens, Dr. William Egbert, former lieutenant-governor explained in an address the formation and objectivity of the Economic Safety League.

The league he stated was an organization of Alberta citizens convinced the adoption of the William Aberhart Alberta Social Credit League proposals would be a calamity for the province.

Dr. Egbert said the league was strictly non-partisan and its aims were in the best sense, educational. It sought to place before the electors its reasons for the conviction that economic disaster would result should the elections place in power "a group of men pledged to put into execution the curious ideas of social credit devised by Aberhart," he continued. —Lethbridge Herald.

ELECTION CAMPAIGN STARTING

With the issuance of the Election writs, calling for voting on August 22nd, and August 12th for Nomination Day, the election campaign will soon be in full swing. In many constituencies even now, meetings are being held, being addressed by the Cabinet members and leaders of the Provincial Government. Locally, plans are being laid for a series of meetings which will cover every polling place in the riding, and these meetings will likely commence the first of the week. It will be a busy time for the candidates and their supporters to get through the meetings and all in readiness for the voting. Returning officers will also be busy getting their notices posted, Deputies appointed, and ballots and ballot boxes into their deputies' hands and all details for the vote straightened up.

There will be a great deal of shifting from party to party before the voting day arrives according to the present outlook. In the past people have taken a certain amount of pride in following the party of their fathers, but with many other old and cherished customs, this will go into the discard this time, and before anyone asks or chides about someone changing their allegiance, they should examine themselves to see exactly where they stand politically.

The new Provincial Social Credit party has won a great many adherents. Naturally the question arises, where are they from. A certain percentage of them will be new voters, but not all by any means. There will be voters from all of the other parties scratching for Social Credit at the Voting. Then too, in the Dominion there will be Reconstructionists, drawn largely, according to public opinion from the Conservative ranks, although this is guesswork; and then there is the probability of the Douglas Social Credit party taking the Dominion Field which will make a great array of candidates in the field for the seats of honor.

From the problems before the voters, and the questions facing the Provincial and Dominion houses in the next few years, it seems that every voter should make it his or her business to learn as much as possible about the questions of the day by attending as many of the meetings as possible, and listening to the suggestions of the various parties for meeting present day demands and solving the unsolved problems of the present and immediate future.

SUMMER CAMPING

Summer camping reminds us that life would have been different for some women in Raymond and district had the Girl Guides been active here during their childhood. The attitudes toward people, toward problems and toward life in general which scouting engenders would have helped them squeeze a lot more joy out of living.

Scouting helps to build an inner sense of ability to cope with situations which wives and mothers so much need. Problems which baffle and hurt fine personalities and make them want to escape in some unusual manner would have proven but interesting challenges to known latent powers to master them had some fine nervous types had the advantages afforded modern girls.

Scouting not only builds up poise and confident serenity by its instruction in various forms of craftsmanship and friendly contests in games but brings out the best in a growing girl's nature by teaching her the joys of generosity and the satisfactions of service to others.

Besides these fundamental things and many others Scouting for Girls helps pale personalities to a robust social health and adjustment as it also helps build better bodies to bear the race of tomorrow. Melancholy moves out when scouting moves into a girl's life, and in its place comes faith in themselves, in people and the worth of living.

PACIFIER...

It would be rather ridiculous to call the irritable, irritating and ready-to-fight person a pacifier. It is equally ridiculous to call the thing which is stuck into so many babies' mouths by such names as "pacifier," "comfort" and "soother".

The so-called pacifier really irritates. Certainly the child cries for it, just as he will cry for many other undesirable things, such as, sharp scissors. The baby is not to blame, but someone else is. No child ever cried for his "pacifier" unless someone had started him in the bad habit of wanting to have something in his mouth all the time.

If you doubt that the pacifier is really irritating, ask any man how long he can suck at a dry pipe without feeling nauseated. The use of the "pacifier" is nothing more or less than a bad habit as far as the baby is concerned.

It is a bad habit for many reasons. First of all, it is dangerous. Why? Because it is impossible to keep the "pacifier" scrupulously clean, and certainly anything which does not come up to that standard of cleanliness has no place in a baby's mouth. The "pacifier" must, because of the way it becomes soiled, often carry disease germs into the child's body.

Besides being a filthy article, the use of the "pacifier" spoils the natural arch of the mouth by causing a protrusion of the upper jaw, which leads to irregular and protruding teeth. Sucking at a "pacifier" promotes adenoids, and it causes a constant flow of saliva which keeps the baby drooling.

Raymond is fortunate in having capable, community-conscious women who can foster such a worthy organization in our midst.

A Great Lakes Holiday

With the increasing popularity of vacation trips on the Great Lakes, the Canadian Pacific has expanded its Great Lakes Steamship service to include calls at Port Arthur to westbound voyages as well as eastbound. The Great Lakes make this continent almost unique for an inland sea voyage, part of which is entirely out of sight of land. Attractions that have been drawing an increasing number of passengers include a change of air, refreshing coolness, magnificent scenery, complete rest, and all the joys of shipboard. The Canadian Pacific Great Lakes steamers this year have been outfitted with deck sports, including quoits, shuffleboard, and deck golf. Dancing and music bring pleasure to the evening hours. The schedule makes it possible to take an enjoyable week's trip, going either way, with overnight stops at both ends. Sailing Saturday, the round trip is completed the following Friday. Sailing Wednesday, the round trip is completed on Monday. The steamers leave Port McNicoll at 5:00 p.m. on Wednesdays and Saturdays, arriving at Port Arthur at 6:45 a.m. and Port William at 7:50 a.m. on Mondays and Fridays. In time to connect with train leaving dock at 8:00 a.m., eastern standard time, making connections with train No. 1 leaving Port William station for the West at 7:35 a.m., central standard time. On the eastbound trip departure time is 12:00 noon from Port William on Saturdays and Wednesdays, 1:00 p.m. from Port Arthur, arriving in Port McNicoll at 8:00 a.m., eastern standard time, on Mondays and Fridays. Port Arthur was in the schedule for an eastbound call but the call on the westbound trip has not been in effect for several years. Attractive all-expense tours at very low cost have been arranged to provide happy combinations of rail trips overland and steamship cruises across the Lakes, with leisurely stop-over at famous vacation resorts. There is a nine-day westbound tour between Toronto and Winnipeg and a ten-day eastbound tour from Winnipeg to Niagara Falls, with return trip in both cases.

EXPERIMENTAL STATION, LETHBRIDGE

THE FASHIONABLE FACE

WEEKLY LETTER
WARBLE FLIES, BOTS
AND GOPHERS

The writer of this week's letter was recently in a local drug store and was surprised to note a display of preparations for the control of warbles and gophers. In conversation with the druggist it was learned that there was considerable demand for such preparations, and as this is the incorrect time of the year for effective control measures to be practised it appeared that a number of farmers are misinformed regarding these pests. It occurred to me that a weekly letter telling what not to do at this season of the year would be as valuable as one telling what to do at the proper time.

Each of the three pests, warble flies, hot flies and gophers cause considerable damage annually. Fortunately effective control measures have been developed for at least two of them, and it is only a matter of organized timely application of these measures that is required, but any attempt at the destruction of these pests during the summer months will be largely a waste of time, money and energy. It is true that this is the time of the year when they are in evidence but it is also the time of the year when control measures are least effective.

The warble fly, or heel fly as it is commonly known, is most prevalent during the months of June, July and August, on bright warm days. The fly neither bites nor stings but simply deposits its eggs on the hairs of the legs, flanks and bellies of cattle, but this is sufficient to cause stampeding of herds. The fly never feeds but apparently exists only to reproduce.

No satisfactory means of destroying the flies has been developed, but it has been discovered that an effective control of this pest can be obtained by destroying the grubs or warbles during the late winter and early spring months when they are to be found in the backs of cattle. The only practical method of preventing the attack of the flies is to provide a dark, shady shelter for the cattle during the summer months, as the flies work only in bright sunlight areas.

Bot flies are in the same category as the warble flies inasmuch as the flies are troublesome at this time of the year whereas the greatest damage from the bots is caused during the winter months. Treating horses for the destruction of bots during the spring or summer is of little or no value as most of the bots will have passed out of the digestive tract of the horse. The proper time to treat for the destruction of bots is midwinter when danger of reinfestation is largely over.

Very little can be done in destroying the botfly, but relief can be given horses from the attack of the flies by the use of various appliances which interfere with their attacks, and also by providing shade for horses that are not working.

The last item, gophers, to be dealt with in this letter presents quite a different problem but probably causes as great losses as the other two pests. It is really surprising the amount of damage which can be observed in some fields where control measures have not been applied. Too many farmers wait with their control measures until the time of the year when damage is being done, whereas the early spring when feed is scarce and before young are produced is the logical time for the use of poisoned bait.

A man who is glad to learn is usually profitable to listen to.

The thermometer at the A.C. climbed to 94 degrees in the shade on Tuesday. No wonder we had an electrical storm at night.

Leading physiognomists tell us that the face of this generation is keener, more of the executive face, than was that of our grandparents. Now, as a beauty scientist, I can tell you of a change that takes place in the feminine face every season. Hats cause it, changed hairlines contribute to it, and, finally, new styles in makeup complete the metamorphosis.

To be thoroughly alive and modern, you must prepare to meet this change in the appearance of the face, just as you accept new fashions in clothes.

This season, the fashionable face must meet exposure from dozers of new angles. No longer can you hide away under large, complete brims. So, let us prepare for these revelations by concentrating on the "danger spots" first.

By "danger spots," I refer to certain areas of skin which show the ravages of time first.

One of these is at the sides of the face, between the temple and the commencement of the cheekbone. Just here the skin is delicate and stretches easily; wrinkles appear and the skin becomes loose and lifeless.

It is comforting to know that a good rich, youthifying tissue cream will do wonders towards restoring its firm smoothness. After cleansing the face each night, massage the tissue cream gently into the skin here, using a light rotating movement and then pat briskly.

The forehead comes in for generous exposure too with the new hats, either one side or the other of it meets the eye. If you have never been told, as a little girl, "not to frown this forehead of yours is probably covered with a network of fine wrinkles.

Stimulants are the thing for wrinkles. After cleansing, pat in briskly a youthifying stimulant with a piece of absorbent cotton. You will feel a tingling sensations, and soon the blood will come rushing to the surface. Then reach for your tissue cream and massage it well into the skin. This builds up the tissues under the skin and fills out those places where wrinkles appear. It is important that this cream be massaged in well. Take four or five minutes to do this, with the palm of the hand, using an upward and outward stroke.

Don't forget another danger spot: the expression line between nose and mouth. For this, use the same stimulant and cream. But pinch gently the skin along this line while using the cream.

YOU CAN'T STOP
STOKING A STEAM
ENGINE -- SAID WRIGLEY

Interviewed, and asked to what he attributed his phenomenal success, the late Mr. Wrigley, of chewing gum fame, replied, "To the consistent advertising of a good product."

"But," asked the reporter, "having captured practically the entire market, why continue to spend vast sums annually in advertising?"

Wrigley's reply was illuminating.

Once having raised steam in an engine, he stated, it requires continuous stoking to keep it up. Advertising stokes up business and keeps it running on a full head of steam.

This applies to YOUR business, too. Don't make a secret of your product. Tell people about it. Tell them what it does. Tell them its advantages. Tell them where to get it. Tell them through the Press and keep on telling them.

R. E. Pilling, horse buyer of Cardston, spent part of the week in Raymond.

Every day sees plenty of clouds and promises, but so far very little rain has fallen.

The kids are ruefully counting the days now before school starts again. We would too if we were kids.

J. D. Brown and family, just returned this week from a mon-time with relatives and friends.

NIAGARA FALLS

TRIMMED OFF

Niagara Falls, Ont. July 26 Trimmed off sections as neatly as if it had been sliced off by a gigantic knife, the traditional vantage point of generations of honeymooners, Table Rock, has now disappeared. The last sector of overhanging limestone cliff was blasted into the gorge on Thursday, July 24th, after a series of blasts on Dominion Day.

According to the demonstration witnessed by thousands of spectators who arrived from every point of the compass for the event, the technique of dynamiting now approximates an exact science. Engineers of the Victoria Parks Commission and Arthur Michie of Queens-ton Quarries supervised the removal of the historic landmark.
In a series of preliminary blasts, the shale on the surface was swept off as cleanly as if the Niagara crags were being polished up for the main event.

Technicians then charted in advance, the size, direction and spacing of the blast holes.
For each operation, twenty-two holes each two feet apart and 14 feet deep were drilled.
Steel containers of dynamite and black powder were placed in each. The charges were then fired simultaneously from a battery. The blasts sheared the face off the point in great slices, blowing the limestone and dolomite in neat piles in the gorge below. The operations were carried out without the slightest danger to the mobs who milled about the scene and watched from every available sightseeing point to get a glimpse of the event.

The actual blasting took altogether only a few minutes and the overhang, which had become dangerous to spectators and Falls' sightseers was completely removed. The line of the cliffs surrounding the gorge has been moved back thirty feet and the new face of the cliff is a perpendicular wall of solid rock to the bottom of the gorge 200 feet below.

William Chadderton who has been visiting with his sister Mrs. F. Wight left for his home in Edmonton taking Billie Wight for a months holiday with relatives and friends.

With flood conditions still prevailing in Northern Alberta and the summer nearly over, people are wondering where they are going to winter. Many of them have lost their homes and have been living in tents for weeks past. They are demanding government action in the matter.

Here and There

Two or three times as much rainfall this year between April 1 and May 8 on the Prairies as compared with the same period last year makes the outlook for the 1935 harvest similar to that at the same time of year in 1932 when the largest crop since 1928 was recorded, states T. S. Acheson, general agricultural agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the West.

Leonard J. Pohlmann, travelling passenger agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, with headquarters at New York, was recently elected vice-president of the American Association of Travelling Passenger Agents of New York. Mr. Pohlmann has been a member of the association's executive committee for the past year.

Hotel Saskatchewan, Regina, distinguished itself recently by staging a Chinese Mandarin dinner dance, said to be the first of its kind on this continent. As stage decoration there was used a hundred-foot runner and side drapes, hand-made by Chinese many decades ago, and insured while in use at a valuation of $6,000. The orchestra was in Chinese dress and provided music with a decidedly Eastern background.

T. J. Jackson, who has just been appointed first assistant manager of the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, in succession to Cyril Chapman, promoted to the post of manager of the Selwyn Club of Quebec, started as cashier at the Chateau Frontenac in 1924, and has had rapid advancement to his present high position.

To Charles Montgomery, one-time switch-tender and at present elevator operator at the Canadian Pacific uptown office building in Winnipeg, go all honors for having constructed what is probably the most perfectly finished model of a locomotive on the continent. It is a five-foot replica of a Canadian Pacific class "2300", finished in brass, and copper, and took five years to construct.

Out of active service for some years past, Canadian Pacific liner Medita has been sold to Italian shipbreakers. She was built in Glasgow in 1918.

"Never betray a trust; be honest; do what other men can do; and work your eight hours a day," is the recipe for success enunciated by Caleb R. Smith, international chairman of the Million-Dollar Round Table, speaking to the Life Underwriters in convention at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, recently.

James G. Millar, Medicine Hat, veteran Canadian Pacific engineer, recently celebrated his 82nd birthday, when railway acquaintances and relatives gathered to congratulate him. He was born in Drummondville, Que., and has been drawing a railroad cheque for more than 64 years.

A couple of score of fine old railroaders who five decades ago helped push the steel around the north shore of Lake Superior for the Canadian Pacific Railway, gathered near Jackfish, Ont., recently, to re-enact the driving of the last spike at Nosto on May 15, 1885. Alex. Anderson, Port Arthur, who held the spike when it was driven fifty years ago, drove home a new slided spike with a vigor that belied his 81 years.

Lightning struck the power line near the Town Pump House Tuesday night, burning out the fuses and the connections to the transformer. Sam says it is a miracle that the pump house was not burned. This is why the water pressure was so low Wednesday forenoon while repairs were being made.
